Company owners Steve and Maggie Jacobus moved with their three sons from the suburbs of Milwaukee, WI to the jungles of Costa Rica in 2005 in search of a lifestyle more in tune with nature. The family created the web show, Super Natural Adventures, to share with viewers the family's first-hand experiences in nature and created Activated Life Experiences travel company for those who want to get hands-on themselves with Costa Rica's incredible natural destinations. Activated Life Experiences is a family-owned and operated boutique travel business catering to families, business executives and small groups looking for a unique, environmentally conscious travel experience in Costa Rica.

Activated Life Experiences (www.activatedlife.com) offers travelers the opportunity to have an authentic, nature-rich, environmentally-friendly experience in one of the most bio-diverse places on the face of the earth. All trips are custom planned based on the travelers' goals and budget and draw on the personal contacts and top travel experiences of company owners, Steve and Maggie.
